

MONEY FOR BASE COMING, SAYS CAINE

Senate Will Amend General Naval Appropriation Bill Passed in House to Provide for Start, Is Claim

Failure of Representatives to Allow for Big Enterprise Is Due to Legislative Technicality. C. C. Chief Says

The Alameda item cannot go on the house bill because a rule provides that any new project must first be authorized by legislative enactment before an item can be carried in the appropriation bill providing for the beginning of work upon such a project, but the senate committee on naval affairs will undoubtedly amend the bill as to include provisions for the new projects, including the naval base at Alameda.

This was the statement today of Joseph E. Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, who has been several months at Washington lobbying for the Alameda project before it was passed upon by congress, upon the receipt here today of Washington despatches declaring that the naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1921-22, reported today from the house committee, included no appropriation for the proposed new naval base here.

BASE PROJECT IS NOT AFFECTED, SAYS CAINE.
Caine declared this step was anticipated exactly and was no surprise. He advanced the belief that it would in no way affect the project. The bill reported in Washington today from the house committee on appropriations, was an appropriation bill for maintenance of the naval establishment during the fiscal year 1921-22, and carried a total of $336,000.

This is $31,262,484 less than the amount carried in the appropriation bill for last year and $28,514,482 less than asked by the navy department.

"The Alameda item cannot go on the house bill because a rule provides that any new project must first be authorized by legislative enactment before it can be carried in the appropriation bill providing for the beginning of work upon such a project," Caine said in explaining the action of the house committee.

PROVISION WAS MADE IN NAVAL ESTIMATES.
"In a case like that of the Alameda base, where no formal legislative authorization has passed through congress, an appropriation item on the naval bill would be subject to a point of order in the House and could be knocked out by the objection of any single member."

But the Alameda base, however, carried in the naval estimate submitted to this congress by the secretary of the treasury. This was done in order to make it possible for the senate committee on naval affairs to so amend the naval bill as to include provisions for the new projects favorably reported upon by the joint congressional commission which came to the coast last year.

"This," he continued, "will include an appropriation for starting work upon the Alameda base, and the work upon the naval aviation station at Sand Point, Washington, and the submarine base at San Pedro."

POINT OF ORDER IS AVOIDED BY PLAN.

"The insertion of these items in the house bill would have been futile because of their all being subject to a point of order. Being placed upon the naval bill by the Senate committee, they are not subject to a point of order either in the House or in the Senate."

"The action of the House committee on naval affairs is exactly as anticipated by us."

The bill, according to the telegraphic report, is the same exactly as reported to the House in the last congress, with an addition of $46,895 for the Great Lakes, Ill. training station, and $50,000 for completing service records of navy men in the world war.

The bill despatches state, cuts to 100,000 the naval force of marines, now 140,000, and the enlisted force, now 20,000, now 27,400.

DENBY AND ROOSEVELT EXPECTED ON VISIT.

Notified today that Secretary of the Navy Denby and Assistant Secretary Theodore Roosevelt have been invited to visit the West coast, and would undoubtedly make an inspection of the naval base site here, Caine said that he understood that the officials were planning to come.

"I understand that Assistant Secretary of Navy Roosevelt had been invited to make a visit to the United States Navy base at Alameda, San Diego and San Pedro by Admiral Hugh Rodman. It is believed that both officials will come west within a month."

Lode Causing First Nome Rush Found

NOME, Alaska, April 22.—Prospectors from the Kugruk river district, returning here, declare the lost Discovered Lode, which caused the first Nome stampede, has been relocated on the beaches of that river and is panning from $1 to $250 a pan at a depth of twenty feet. The new strike is located about two miles from the original discovery claim and is believed by old prospectors to be the continuation of the pay streak of that claim. In the original discovery more than 100,000,000 in gold was taken out before the lode was lost.

Body Found in L. A. Harbor With Lead Weights

Suit Purchased in Oakland Store May Lead to Identity.

The body of an elderly man, the pockets of whose fashionably made clothes were filled with lead, was recovered today from Los Angeles harbor. The police of the southern city hoped to establish his identity through the mark of an Oakland clothing firm on the inside pocket of his coat, and through false teeth of peculiar construction.

He was about 65 years old, five feet nine inches tall, and weighed about 155 pounds. His hair was gray and his face smooth shaven.

The body apparently had been in the water about two weeks. Establishing identity of the body, the police of Long Beach received a report from Mrs. Maude Howard, stating that her husband, A. D. Howard, 55, county prosecutor at Jefferson, Cal., had been missing since yesterday when she found a note in which he stated he intended to fill his pockets with lead and jump into the ocean. She said her husband had been in poor health. They reside in Long Beach.

A label of the Fashion Clothing, 933 Broadway, this city, is the clew upon which the authorities hoped to base identification. L. Morrison, proprietor of the Oakland clothing house, recalled this morning that he had sold a blue suit to a man answering the description of the body three weeks ago.

According to his statement the man had said he was traveling. He was eager to take away the garment, but was persuaded to wait while work was done. The following day the customer returned to the Broadway store and made a number of small purchases. In the two conversations no names were exchanged and no business connections mentioned. The stranger had a suitcase upon which he asked Mrs. Howard to place a label. She recalled that the customer had acted queerly.

Scores in Peril From Leak of Phosgene Gas

People Flee From Death Fume After Being Aroused by Fire Alarm.

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
BOUND BROOK, N. J., April 22.—Bison gas, manufactured to kill Germans, escaped from a storage tank in the western section of Bound Brook today.

The wild flight of scores of people, roused from their sleep by the fire alarm, m. by the warning of the firm alarm siren, saved them from death.

The deadly phosgene gas escaped from a large tank filled with the Company and the gas leaked out of the big container, from which a smaller tank was being filled.

Three workmen, one of them wearing a gas mask, immediately collected the fumes which began spreading over the city.

FLOW IS STOPPED BY VOLUNTEERS IN MASKS.

After the gas had been leaking for an hour the flow was stopped by volunteers wearing gas masks, and about dawn the refugees began trooping back to their homes, the fumes having been dissipated.

A search was on today for possible victims who might have been overlooked in the general flight. Officials have fallen unconscious in out-of-the-way places.

It was believed only a few persons were actually overcome. Three men were rendered unconscious at the Hemmingsway plant.

Joseph Brusso was the first man to become aware of the menace. He was sleeping in his home, half a mile from the plant, when he smelled a sweetish odor. Two members of his family were ill. My lungs were so full of the fumes that I could hardly breathe, but first the smell was not unpleasant, but it quickly became smothering."

FIRE ALARM GIVES WARNING TO SLEEPERS.

Brusso awoke from his home and turned in the fire alarm, which he saw on the wall. He immediately after the siren shrieked its warning, residents began their flight.

Physicians were called to the gas area, but the time just before dawn they gave medical assistance to many of the people who had gotten whiffs of the deadly phosgene before escaping.

Several witnesses told police they were suddenly awakened in the small hours of the morning by a choking feeling.

Many of the refugees were afraid to return to their homes today, but were being urged to do so. Those who showed the area had been cleared of the gas.

MORSE MUST WAIT 9 DAYS FOR CONTEST

Hence Sample Ballots Are to Be Issued Without Name of Incumbent Commissioner on Them; Clerk to Proceed

Chambers Declares Colburn Would Gain by Re-count; Hempstead Issues a Statement on Action At The Polls

Because Commissioner F. F. Morse, incumbent, who failed to qualify in the primary election, must wait nine days before he files the contemplated contest before the Superior court, no action in the commissioner's self-styled "last ditch" fight for another count of the ballots was taken today.

With the discovery that Morse must wait a little over a week after the date of the canvass before he can ask legal aid toward a recount, and that the court at that time must set a date for a hearing and thereby postpone once more any chance for an immediate review of the election, a careful reckoning of the chances of the voters for the election on May 10 will contain the name of Morse. According to City Clerk Len W. Cummings, the ballots will be marked for Colburn and Hempstead. Work of mailing them will start April 25 and they should be all out by May 4.

INDICATE CHANCE FOR MIX-UP IS REMOTE.

The fact that Morse would have to win his contest before the Superior court before he would be entitled to a place as a candidate and that a careful reckoning of the chances indicates that Colburn's total topped his by 66 votes, is held at the city hall to indicate the chance for the mix-up is remote. Morse has to win in the Superior court before he would have to conduct a write-in campaign.

"I have no alternative but to mark the ballots for Colburn and Hempstead as they stand," says Cummings. "I have to go ahead regardless of the contest. The charter provides that it has to be done."

Morse has to win in the Superior court before he would have to conduct a write-in campaign.

Three Identify New York Bomb Horror Suspect

Photograph of Man Arrested Declared That of Driver of "Death Cart."

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, April 22.—A photograph of Tito Ligi, now under arrest in Scranton, Pa., has been identified by three persons as that of the man believed to have been driving the "bomb wagon" into Wall street on September 16 last, William J. Flynn, chief of the Department of Justice, said here today. Flynn arrived from Washington and presented several photographs which he identified as being those of the man who was not at liberty to make any statement in his identification.

In their hunt for the bomb plotter, Chief Flynn and his aides had gathered a photograph of many known and suspected radicals, and these were shown to the three persons before Ligi's arrest. The Ligi photograph, which is said to have been obtained through another alleged radical in Paterson, N. J., was picked by all three as that of the man they saw driving the bomb wagon, Mr. Flynn said.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 22.—Tito Ligi, who was arrested here last Thursday on suspicion of complicity in the Wall-street bomb explosion of September 16, was summoned before Federal Commissioner Ellis today to answer to a charge of evading elective service during the war.

PIECES OF METAL ARE FOUND IN CAVE BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 22.—One hundred jagged pieces of metal, similar to jagged window sash weights, were found in the Aconia restaurant, a frequent haunt of Tito Ligi, held by federal agents as a suspect in the Wall street bomb explosion, it was learned today. The discovery was made by reporters who turned their find over to the federal authorities.

The pieces of metal, which were found in a tin box. They closely resembled the broken bits of sash weights found scattered over Wall street after the explosion.

Ligi was employed at the restaurant, federal officials said. He worked there up until the night before he was arrested. He told his employer he was quitting to engage in business himself.

45 CHICKENS (POULTRY) IN STOKES HOME

Wife of Banker Says Feathered Occupants Made Her Apartment So Untidy She Could Not Have Her Meals

Denies Charges Made by Her Multi-Millionaire Mate That She Had Friendly Relations With Old Magnate

NEW YORK, April 22.—Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes, taking the stand today to press her counter claims for separation in her multi-millionaire husband's divorce suit, made the following charges:

Stokes boasted to her that he was intimate with several women in the Hotel Ansonia, where she occupied an apartment with him.

When she left her apartment Stokes had to accompany her or send the butler to protect her from physical attacks by these women.

The plaintiff stated that some of these women he met in her apartment. Stokes kept 45 chickens (poultry) in the kitchen, and the apartment was so "filthy" she could not eat there.

REAL CHICKENS MEANT.

Herbert Smythe, counsel for Stokes, fought bitterly against admission of this testimony.

Supreme Justice Finch sustained the contention of Mrs. Stokes, that the testimony constituted support of her counter claim of cruelty.

When Mrs. Stokes started to tell of the chickens in the kitchen, Smythe interrupted with an objection.

"Oh, you ought to be glad in this instance these were REAL chickens," Littleton interposed.

In the preliminary questioning by her attorney, Martin W. Littleton, Mrs. Stokes denied there ever were any improper relations between herself and Edgar T. Wallace, wealthy California oil operator, the co-respondent upon whom the plaintiff based his hopes of proving sufficient grounds for divorce.

Stokes' lawyer, however, called several witnesses who declared they saw Mrs. Stokes in Wallace's New York apartment.

STASIDE PICTURES WITH WALLACE IDENTIFIED.

Littleton, showing a seaside picture of Wallace and Mrs. Stokes, asked the witness if she could identify it.

"Yes," said Mrs. Stokes. "It was taken by mother on the beach when we were in San Francisco in 1906. Mr. mother, sister, brother and myself had gone to California from Denver and we were stopping at the Palace hotel, where I was introduced to Mr. Wallace by a Mrs. Key Pittman. He afterward joined us on the beach."

"Were you ever out alone with Mr. Wallace?"

"When did you next see him?"

"In Denver. He called at my mother's home and others were present when I saw him the first time. He given her a beautiful ring, but that she had never considered it an engagement ring."

Mrs. Stokes then said to him and never saw him again until three weeks ago when I came from Denver," she said.

Mrs. Stokes' reference to Wallace concerned a period prior to her marriage to Mr. Stokes.

Mrs. Stokes unfolded her complete life history. She told of her girlhood in Denver, of going to a girls' seminary in Washington, D. C., for a year, of a subsequent trip to Europe for seven months, and finally of her debut in Denver society.

Mrs. Stokes, gowned prettily, but somewhat somberly, in dark blue, smiled derisively as she denied many witnesses sworn to by her husband's witnesses. But for the most part her story was a straightforward recital.

1000 Perish In Rioting on Sinking Vessel.

Swatow Chinese and Crew of Hong Kahn Battle When Steamer Hits Rocks.

PEKING, March 15 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The sinking of the steamer Hong Koh, between Hong Kong and Swatow, with approximately 1100 Anglo and Swatow Chinese and 30,000 bags of rice aboard, just outside Swatow, precipitated a panic in which the passengers fought each other with knives and axes and hatchets for places in the boats, according to consular advice from Swatow. About a thousand passengers and most of the crew were drowned or killed in the rioting.

The Hong Koh was drawing 22 feet of water when she approached Swatow. A pilot went aboard, but refused to bring her into port because of the bad weather and the bar at the harbor entrance. The Swatow Chinese were told that they must go to Amoy and return. They threatened a riot, but the captain and officers cleared for action with fire arms and a hot water hose and the trouble was averted for the time being.

When the vessel struck the rocks, a panic followed and many were killed with knives, axes and hatchets and there was much looting.

The boats and rafts that could be launched were swamped from overcrowding or wrecked, against the steamer's side by the waves, fell overboard. The captain, Harry Holmes, was drowned, but the other officers, who were foreigners, escaped.

The steamer flew the British flag.

Woman Victim Refuses to Blast Bubble of Romance

Just as Sherlock Holmes always referred to the heroine of "The Scandal in Bohemia" as "the one woman," Allan Pinkerton declared upon numerous occasions that the little affair of Mrs. Willet and the fascinating Frenchman was the strangest case with which he had ever been brought in contact.

It was unique not only on account of the remarkable manner in which the plot was laid and the details stage-managed, but in its sequel as well. One would think that a woman who had been swindled out of $300,000, to say nothing of being deceived in a love affair, would have stopped at nothing in order to revenge herself. But here is a case where feminine psychology called itself in its prerogative to do the unexpected, which was only one of the many strange features of the case.

MRS. WILLET

The Mrs. Willet in question was a wealthy widow, proprietress of a large and extremely prosperous hotel. Her companion was a French girl named Jeanette Villiers and some months after the girl had entered Mrs. Willet's service she introduced her employer to a young man, a personable Frenchman, Edouard Halliot.

During the weeks that followed, Halliot showed himself far from adverse to the wealthy widow's society. He called often, and with true Gallic suavity, succeeded in making a deep impression upon the older woman's susceptibilities. It was not long before the friendship ripened into love, at least on the part of Mrs. Willet, and, while Halliot appeared to return her affection, he insisted that they keep the matter secret because of the fact that he did not care to be mistaken for a fortune hunter.

One day, however, a messenger brought a note to the widow, a communication from Halliot stating that he had been taken ill and was on the point of death.

CALL TO BEDSIDE

"Come to me at once, I implore you," concluded the letter, and Mrs. Willet lost no time in following instructions. It was the first time that she had visited the Frenchman's apartment, and she found the man who was supposedly in love with her stretched out in bed, pale, wan and very feeble.

"They tell me that I have only a few hours to live," he said, in a voice which was barely audible. "But I simply had to see you before I died, it only to make a confession. I love you with all my heart, and because of this love there is something that I must say I am not, as you believe, a single man. I have been married for years, though my love for you is the first ray of real happiness which has ever entered my life. I have tried to tell you many times before, but I could not. The words seemed to stick in my throat, and I could not bear to shatter the happiness which we had built up. Tell me, I beg of you, that you forgive me—for otherwise I must die as miserably as I have lived."

ASSISTANCE OFFERED

Infatuated, and more than a little thrilled by this plea from a man many years younger than herself, Mrs. Willet replied that there was nothing to forgive if he must die, he could do so with the complete assurance of her pardon.

"Is there nothing I can do?" she asked. "Is your case so entirely hopeless? And if it is, do you wish me to be of assistance to your wife, or would you prefer that she know nothing of this?"

"For my wife," was the reply. "I care nothing. But she has a boy whom I want you to love as I know you loved his father. Help him, will you? For your aid will be the final seal of our love."

"Strange as it may seem," stated Pinkerton, in going over the details of the case later, "the woman agreed without reservation. She not only promised to take care of the boy, but she would settle half of her fortune—$300,000—upon him, in memory of his father and the love which she had borne him. Even when she inquired the name of the mother and found that it was Jeanette Villiers, her companion, Mrs. Willet vowed no anger, which is certainly a tribute to the personality and the almost hypnotic powers of the Frenchman."

PINKERTON IN CASE

The following morning she was informed that Halliot had passed away during the night, and before twenty-four hours had elapsed, she had approached her lawyer with a demand for an accounting of her property and the withdrawal of $300,000 in cash and negotiable securities.

"That was where I came into the case," the lawyer was naturally curious as to the motive behind this action, and he commissioned me to discover whether fraud was being practiced, though he was inclined at the time to lean toward the theory of blackmail. There was no way, however, in which the widow could be prevented from securing money which was legally hers, and before I had a chance to dig back into her history, she had withdrawn the amount she wanted, and, as it afterwards developed, had turned it over to Jeanette Villiers, with instructions that it was to be held in trust for her son.

"So well had the conspirators covered their tracks that it took me about a month to find the trail, but when I finally called upon Mrs. Villiers with all the facts in my possession, I received the shock of my life."

CONFESSION

"In spite of the clearest of evidence, the woman absolutely refused to believe that she had been defrauded, and coldly informed me that so far as she was concerned the case was closed. I showed her indisputable proof that Halliot had never died, that his infatuation for her had been merely a means to an end, that Jeanette Villiers had been planted in the house, and that the money was not being used for the child but was being enjoyed by Halliot and his wife at that very moment. Mrs. Willet either feared the ridicule which publicly would bring, or she still cherished the memory of the gallant young Frenchman, and refused to have the bubble of her romance shattered by an exposure of his perjury.

"I left the hotel convinced as I had never been before, that it is impossible to forecast the workings of the feminine mind—a conviction which was strengthened a few months later, when, upon dropping into the dining room of the most fashionable hotel in New York, I saw Mrs. Willet and an elderly man whom she had since married, seated at a table with another couple. Their guests were none other than Edouard and Jeanette Halliot—and the entire party appeared to be upon the most amicable of terms."

Rare Skins for Museum Unpacked

The largest single shipment of African animal skins and motion picture films yet sent by the H. A. Snow expedition to the Oakland Public Museum is being unpacked at the museum today and stored away pending the return of the African party to direct the disposition of the trophies.

The shipment consists of thirty-six cases of material which arrived a week ago on the Conqueror, direct from Africa. This have been in the hands of customs inspectors until yesterday, when they were sent to the museum.

White rhinoceros skins, the only ones in America, are included in the collection being unpacked, which, when mounted, will give the Oakland museum one of the rarest animal groups in any museum in the world.

CITY PLANNING BOARD ELECTS MAIDEN, MATTIS

Immediate Report to Be Made On the Trestle Glen Project.

Immediate work looking to a report as to the various means by which the Trestle Glen park might be secured as a public park by the city will be started by a newly created City Planning Commission of the city of Oakland, it was announced today.

Bruce Maiden, president of the Oakland Real Estate Board, was chosen president of the commission and George Mattis, city engineer, secretary at the organization meeting of the commission held yesterday at the city hall.

After a complete study of the legal and financial aspects of the Trestle Glen park situation is completed the commission will prepare a tentative plan for Oakland involving the zoning of the city into residential, business and industrial districts.

Members of the new commission include in addition to the president and secretary: Mayor John A. Davis, City Attorney H. L. Hagan, William Knowles, Roscoe Jones, Harry Laifer and Commissioner of Public Works Frederick Soderberg.

Securities Company in S. F. Under Probe

Investigation into the affairs of the Wall Street Securities company of San Francisco, stock brokers, is to be had following the arrest in Seattle of two of the firm's representatives on alleged fraud charges.

The men under arrest are W. V. Moran, Seattle manager of the firm, and Paul D. Porter, a salesman.

Prosecuting Attorney Malcolm Douglas of Seattle, charged after the arrests were made that the firm has used misrepresentation to effect fraud in its business affairs by selling legitimate stocks but exaggerated their real value.

The firm closed its San Francisco office some two months ago, the leaders of the firm saying that they were going East.

Passover Services to Be Held Tonight

Symbolic religious services will be held in Jewish homes tonight at sunset and in synagogues throughout the city, observing the Passover, the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt.

Sedar will be the service observed today by the breaking of unleavened bread in pious homes and in the temples.

In San Francisco services will be observed throughout the city. At the Young Men's Hebrew Association a Sedar will be given by the Jewish Welfare board. Passover services will be held at Temple Beth Israel and a Sedar will be conducted this evening at the Hotel St. Francis.

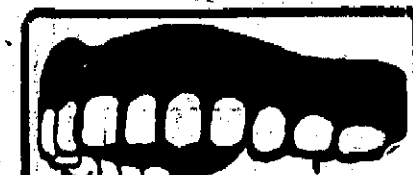

Other services will be conducted at Congregational, "Knesseth" Israel and Congregational Obabai.

COULDN'T RESIST HIM

"The last objection is removed and mother's convinced, and it wasn't so hard, either. She was somewhat skeptical at first, said she didn't know how it could be done, with practically no cash, but I showed her."

"How, Tod, did you take her down and show her?"

"Sure thing. We went direct to Cherry, the women's store at 515 13th street; the men's and boys' store, 523 13th street, and when she saw me in one of the suits (they give an extra pair of pants with them, you know), well, I hate to talk about myself, but she simply couldn't resist, especially when she heard she only had to pay a little bit down and the rest in easy payments. In fact, mother got so enthusiastic over it that she got an outfit for herself on the same plan, just to keep step with me!"—Advertisement.

Smoke Stirs Guests in Three S. F. Hotels

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Guests in three downtown hotels were aroused from their slumbers when an alarm of fire was sounded for a blaze in the Powell bowling alley conducted by Edward Quard at 115 Powell street, early today.

A dense cloud of smoke poured from the interior and made the fire seem of greater magnitude than it really was. Occupants of the Woodside hotel, the Gale, Tallan and Herbert Bachelor hotels were awakened and prepared to leave if necessary. The department, however, succeeded in confining the blaze to the bowling alley, although several places were damaged by smoke and water. Those included Morrill's hair goods store, the Marine Grotto, the Victoria cafeteria and a barber shop. The blaze supposedly originated from crossed wires in the ceiling between the bowling alley and the hair goods store above.

Ate Beans With Knife, Divorce Suit Charges

Benjamin Whitehead, foreman of the Columbia Steel Company, ate beans with a knife and made a great noise of it, according to charges made in the divorce affidavit of Virginia E. Whitehead, his wife, filed here in the Superior Court.

Mrs. Whitehead declares that although her husband drew a salary of $400 a month, he failed to buy food or clothing for her.

The plaintiff asks that she be granted either an annulment or a divorce and that her husband be forced to pay her $150 a month. She further alleges that he swore at her and falsely accused her of pawing her jewelry to aid a man.

Gertrude S. Hayward asks $100 a month alimony and all community property in her suit against Frank J. Hayward. She says he called her bad names, stayed out nights and would not provide for her.

Hiking Clubs to Join in Ten-Mile Tramp

The Sierra Club and the Contra Costa Hills Club will join forces next Sunday on a 10-mile tramp under the cover of a continuous forest back of Oakland. Led by Harold French, the party will leave the end of Lake Shore, Key Route line, at 9:30 a. m. and walk up Indian Gulch to the Park boulevard, where late comers will be met near the end of the "E" cars.

To reach their lunching place at the easterly base of Redwood Peak, the hikers will follow the Contra Constans trail up Palo Seco Canyon past Camp Cinderella. A series of campsites which the Eastern conservation clubs are planning to lease and police during the summer will be inspected by the nature-lovers. On May Day there will be a convalesce of all hiking clubs at Redwood Camp above Muir Woods, where the Tanager Conservation Club will hold its spring reunion.

LOSS IS CLAIMED IN BUYING BONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—A number of individuals who declare they have been victimized by brokers that operate in the Federal building here have begun an investigation to determine why gold coin or currency is not accepted by the United States Commissioners as bail from alleged violators of the prohibition regulations.

It is charged by these individuals that they have been forced to buy Liberty bonds at full face value while awaiting trial. As a result of this, they allege, they have lost $65 on every $500 worth of bonds.

Several brokerage houses, it is said, are represented at the Federal building every day, particularly after banking hours. It is alleged that these agents make large profits off those arrested after banking hours.

Benjamin F. Geis, assistant United States district attorney said yesterday in explanation that the purpose of requiring bonds as bail is to protect the defendant if money were accepted as bail it would have to pass through a great many hands and if it were lost there would be no way of tracing it. This danger is obviated by requiring as bail government bonds, as each bond has a serial number as well as other marks of identification.

Local officials admit that gold or currency is accepted as bail in other jurisdictions of the United States court, but call attention to a rule made by judges in the United States District Court several years ago, requiring bonds as bail.

CARDS SENT OUT FOR DANCE

One of the most enjoyable parties of the year which the smart set have to look forward to is the barn dance, for which General and Mrs. Oscar Fitzalan Long and Miss Sally Long and Mr. and Mrs. Zook Sutton have sent out one hundred invitations. The dance will be given in the spacious barn in Hazel Lane, Piedmont, where the Long and Requa homes are situated. April 30 is the date set for the memorable event.

Mrs. Edgar Axton Jones will be hostess of two interesting affairs this month, the first a barbecue to be given in the redwoods adjacent to the Claremont Country Club, when ninety guests will be served. ## MAN SLASHED IN 'FREE-FOR-ALL'

Four men and a woman were involved in a free-for-all fight at 1381 Fifth street which resulted in the cutting and later the arrest of Louis Johnson, who lives at the address where the fight took place.

Mrs. Johnson told the police that there were four men at her home early in the evening. Someone started a fight but she didn't know the cause of it and then they all ran out on the street, where the fight was continued for a few minutes.

The other three men had disappeared before the police arrived. Mrs. Johnson said their names were Sam Aleck, 1700 Golf street, and Andrew and Znacunas.

Johnson is being held in the city jail for investigation.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Multisilf coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Multisilf will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair is left quickly and evenly, and it is left scalp soft, and the hair shines bright, lustrous, fluffy and manages.

You can get Multisilf shampoo at every drug store, or you can write to us for a free trial bottle.

Cop's Nose Points Way to Opium Den

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The pungent odor of opium smoke was so strong in Ross Alley in the heart of Chinatown early today that Detective Sergeant John J. Manion easily detected it as he passed along the outer sidewalk and he immediately determined on a raid. With the aid of a half dozen officers and a like number of axes he forced his way into the shop of Ah Sing.

Ten smokers were found on divans enjoying the luxury of the poppy weed and a complete opium layout was uncovered with a large quantity of narcotics. Ah Sing and his ten visitors were gathered in and looked at the city prison.

Many Men's Service
A committee of street department heads and laborers is engaged testing in West Oakland a chemical preparation which, if it works, will release from 50 to 75 men now cleaning curbs and divert them to building roads.
The preparation is guaranteed to kill grass and weeds. A dose is alleged to make even the most virulent weed sick of life. If it lives up to present hope a laborer with a can of this dope can walk up and down the curbs of the city and clean off all the curbs and gutter edges hitherto cluttered with grass.
"We now have dozens of men trimming these edges all over the city," says Commissioner Edwards.
"If this preparation works the men

Miss Elizabeth Rheem Stoner, a

and her mother, Mrs. E. M. Stoner, who were injured when their insurance overturned at High street and Congress avenue yesterday, are suffering from extreme nervous shock
Both the mother and daughter passed a restless night in Fabiola Hospital where they were taken following the accident.
This morning their condition was reported somewhat improved. Miss Stoner received an injury to her knee which was hurt in a previous accident. She is badly bruised. Attendants this morning were convinced that Mrs. Stoner's hip were not broken as was at first reported.

She sustained a broken arm.
Miss Stoner in avoiding collision with the car driven by F. A. Webb turned abruptly, upsetting the machine in which she and her mother were riding. According to Webb the two cars did not collide. He informed the police that the Mills College faculty woman was driving on the wrong side of the road.

TRIPLE ARCHWAY PLAN APPROVED

Widening of Oxford street from Center street to University avenue, and adjoining the University of California campus on the west, will be preliminary to the proposed erection of a triple archway along the Oxford street side to become the main entrance to the State University as provided in the budget of President David P. Barrows. The first step in the proposed civic improvement was accomplished yesterday when a telegram was received from Mrs. Anna L. Taylor, Berkeley assemblywoman, that the bill appropriating $52,000 for the grading and improving of Oxford street was passed by the assembly. The senate is expected to take favorable action this week. According to Mayor Louis Bartlett the street will be widened from 60 to 80 feet, graded and paved. No expense will be imposed on Berkeley property owners for the work, the university holding the land on both sides of the streets. Three bills introduced into the senate by Senator Arthur H. Brown of Piedmont, appropriating funds to the University of California were passed by that body last night. They are scheduled to pass the assembly and be signed by the governor. An appropriation of $500,000 additional support for the colleges at Berkeley and in San Francisco is provided. A second bill will give $40,000 additional for the support of the agricultural college, and the farm school at Davis.

deficit of $280,000 of the last biennium is made up in the third university measure. Radio Club to Test New Wireless Outfit Members of the Bay Counties Radio Club will set up and test their new $500 wireless receiving outfit at their clubrooms in the Alden Branch of the Oakland Free Library at their regular weekly meeting tonight. The set has been under construction for over a month. It will embody some new ideas in radio receiving-set construction specified to the club by Chris Eberle, 1850 Thirty-third avenue. A powerful sending apparatus is to be installed at the clubrooms within a month making the local club the best equipped on the coast. It is announced.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Arrangements were completed at a meeting in the Palace hotel yesterday for the Boy Scouts drive for $50,000 to the place next week. John A. McFarquhar presided as chairman and the subject of honor was Stuart Dimer, who will act as mayor of San Francisco for one day. Dimer spoke as did Lamin J. Pierce, director of the drive. President Charles C. Moore of San Francisco council and Scout Executive Raymond O. Hansen. Hansen told of the Boy Scouts parade and demonstration which has been arranged by Superior Judge Frank J. Murasky and which will take place tomorrow. The parade will start at 2 o'clock from the ferry, it was announced.

"The Land of Happiness," which was written by Templeton Crocker and Joseph Harding for the Redwood Grove play of 1917, is to be taken back to Chicago by Mary Garden with the idea of producing it later. It was announced today, at the guest of the Redwood Grove, composer of the music. Mary Garden went to Bohemian Grove today to see the Redwood Grove theater where the play was first given.

Departmental transfers of 79 men were made by Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien in a shakeup which is said to be one of the most important that has ever taken place in the local police department. Lieutenants, sergeants, corporals and patrolmen are included in the list of transfers. All districts were affected. Chief O'Brien said that the changes, which had been made after careful consideration were for the good of the department.

Arrangements are being made for the funeral tomorrow of Rev. Julius von Egloffstein, S. J., prominent in the Jesuit Order, and member of the faculty of St. Ignatius Church and University, who died recently at St. Mary's hospital of acute bronchitis. Father Egloffstein was awarded the degree of master of arts in St. Ignatius University in 1874. He was 79 years old at the time of his death. The funeral services are to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow from St. Ignatius church, Fulton street and Parker avenue. The body will be taken to Santa Clara for burial.

Appearing before Police Judge Sylvain Lazarus yesterday in his own defense, Attorney George A. McGowan declared the charges of perjury made against him by Attorney Theodore A. Bell were faulty and characterized the facts alleged to be inadequate to constitute a public offense. The charges were the outgrowth of a note for $5000 said to have been signed by McGowan's wife and given to Bell. The case was continued until today.

PLEA MADE FOR NEW POSTOFFICE

Carrying the indorsement of the leading business men's organizations of the city, letters today were sent to Senators Hiram Johnson and Samuel Shortridge and Representative Arthur Elston urging their efforts in support of an appropriation for a new Oakland postoffice building. The move is being taken under the auspices of the Uptown Association through its secretary, George Sheldon. The communications contain a report telling of the growth of the city and the consequent needed expansion of the postoffice facilities. A photograph of the makeshift wooden annex to the postoffice in the rear of the larger building is included in the communications to show the crowded condition of the present postoffice.

Oakland had an appropriation for a new postoffice part way through Congress in the old "omnibus bill" at the outbreak of the war which was killed when all civil expenses were curtailed to divert funds to war needs. The organizations signing the communications include: Merchants' Exchange, Rotary Club, Lions' Club, Kiwanis Club, Real Estate Board, Progress and Prosperity Committee, Downtown Association, Chamber of Commerce and the Uptown Association.

California Generous to Voters' League

By EDNA B. KINARD.

California women have played a generous part in subscribing to the initial fund which is designed to carry on the work of the National League for Women Voters this year. At the national convention, which was held a few weeks ago in Cleveland, Ohio, $85,000 was assured by the delegates to forward the program adopted. Of this amount, according to word which comes back to the bay cities, California gave $3000, taking the lead by several hundreds over any other state organization.

Organization of the state branch will go rapidly forward under the direction of the California Civic League, which has assumed the responsibility for the newest feminine movement which is a national equal suffrage has given. Mrs. Frank G. Law of Oakland is looked upon as the accepted leader in California.

Now that it is settled that Mrs. Minna McGauley is to be Queen of the Amazons, in the historical pageant that will be the feature of the Yosemite convention of California Federation of Women's Clubs next month, Alameda district is taking a large pride in itself that it possesses within its membership a woman of so great a beauty. The choice has been unanimous despite the long roll of club beauties whose personalities were considered for the majestic role. Directors agreed that the former Elgin president possessed all the attributes which were needful to the character. The district which has been assigned the mythical period in the state story is quite confident that its representation in the cast of several hundred club leaders will take laurels for the loveliness of its personnel. Mrs. Lawson Adams, acclaimed one of the handsomest women in the smart set hereabouts, has been named for a leading part. Miss Elizabeth Rheon Stoner, physical director in Mills College, has undertaken coaching the participants in the Amazon episode, which will be the introduction to the pageant proper, founded on the scenario written by Gertrude Atherton.

A meeting of the cast was held last night. Mrs. Geraldine Okey will hostess the Elgin Club on Monday at her home, 232 Euclid avenue. A program of music with a speaker will precede the tea hour.

A collection of waffle irons has been made this week among the membership of the College Women's Club. The equipment for the delectable dish to become an important feature of the Red Cross Carnival at the Claremont Hotel tomorrow. The College Women have assumed care of the waffle booth, promising the kind that "melt in your mouth" between the hours of 11 a. m. and 6 p. m.

The annual meeting will summon the membership to the Bancroft way clubhouse tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Adjournment will be made to the Claremont Hotel. Carnival to sample the cookery of their own members.

Dramatizing the short story will be discussed by Charles Caldwell Doble before the regular meeting of the Fiction section tomorrow. The methods employed in writing a scenario from a story will be outlined by Mrs. Torrey Connor.

With S. C. Wright and Mrs. Herman Krusi the principal speakers, the tourist and current events section of the Adelphi Club will present a program tonight in the Alameda clubhouse, sharing the entertainment with the husbands, brothers and fathers of the members. Mrs. Krusi will describe her visit to the Panama Canal. Wright will review current topics of the day.

Some modern ways to prevent delinquency were offered by August Vollmer, chief of Berkeley police, before Oakland Civic Center this afternoon. Professor J. W. Gregg discussed landscape architecture and its application in the design of home grounds. Mrs. Evelyn Vance was chairman of the day.

The Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association, with Mrs. Leonard Wood, honorary vice-president and Mrs. John Henry Hammond, president, has continued until May 1 the cornerstone appeal for bricks for Roosevelt House. Coupons may be obtained from National headquarters, East Fifty-seventh street, New York. California has no state chairman listed.

The cornerstone of Roosevelt House was laid January 6 at 28 East Twelfth street, New York, the site of the former President's birthplace and restored home. The date was the second anniversary of his death. The institution is designed to stand as a national memorial and a center for Americanism.

What America Did and Failed to Do at Paris

by
ROBERT LANSING
FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE

Copyright, 1921, by Houghton Mifflin Co. as "The Peace Negotiations: A Personal Narrative." Published by special arrangement with Houghton Mifflin Co.

Robert Lansing today gives further details of the articles he submitted to President Wilson at the beginning of the Peace Conference in Paris as the proper basis of discussion in connection with a League of Nations. These articles serve further to show the irreconcilable difference between the

CHAPTER VII.

SOME FURTHER IRRECONCILABLE DIFFERENCES WITH WILSON.

By the time the President returned from his triumphal journey to Rome I had completed the articles upon which I had been working, at least they were in form for discussion. At a conference at the Hotel Carlton between President Wilson and the American commissioners on January 7, I handed to him the articles, saying that they were supplemental to my letter of December 23. He took them without comment and without making any reference to my unanswered letter.

The first two articles of the International Agreement, as I termed the document were identical in language with the facts and making a mutual covenant and with an international council which I had enclosed in my letter of December 23. It is needless, therefore, to repeat them here.

PEACEFUL METHOD OF SETTLEMENTS.

Article III of the so-called Agreement was entitled "Peaceful Settlement of International Disputes" and read as follows:

Clause 1.

"In the event that there is a controversy between two or more members of the League of Nations which fails of settlement through diplomatic channels one of the following means of settlement shall be employed:

"1. The parties to the controversy shall constitute a joint commission to investigate and report jointly or severally to their governments the facts and make recommendations as to settlement. After such report a further effort shall be made to reach a diplomatic settlement of the controversy.

"2. The parties shall, by agreement, arrange for the submission of the controversy to arbitration mutually agreed upon or to the arbitral tribunal hereinafter referred to.

"3. Any party may, unless the second means of settlement is mutually adopted, submit the controversy to the supervisory committee of the international council, and the committee shall forthwith (a) name and direct a special commission to investigate and report upon the subject, (b) name and direct a commission to mediate between the parties to the controversy; or (c) direct the parties to submit the controversy to the arbitral tribunal for judicial settlement, it being understood that the direction to arbitrate may be made at any time after the report of the special commission, or after investigation and mediation fail to result in a settlement of the controversy.

Clause 2.

"No party to a controversy shall assume any authority or perform any act based upon disputed rights without authorization of the supervisory committee, such authorization being limited in all cases to the pendency of the controversy and its final settlements and being in no way prejudicial to the rights of the parties. In authorization thus granted by the supervisory committee may be modified or superseded by mutual agreement of the parties by order of arbitration or by order of the arbitral tribunal if the controversy is submitted to it.

Clause 3.

"The foregoing clause shall not apply to cases in which the constitutional authorities of a power are unable or fail to give protection

NEURASTHENIA— NERVE STARVATION

A Disease of the Down Hearted—Practical advice on what to do.

Many a man is broken down and discouraged without having any actual disease in his organs and tissues—he has lost his grip on life, his nervous and every thing looks dark. He is suffering from the great American disease—Neurasthenia, or nerve starvation, due to overwork, worry, continual hurry and nervous strain. The larger this continues the more certain it will end in real disease of the organs, his nerves or his mind.

Such a man should live on the simple food—eat plenty of cooked fruit and green vegetables, sleep late hours at night if he can, eat bread in the afternoon and feed his nerves with a good food, like Nerve Food. Like Nerve Food contains a product brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Doctor Robin, which represents the principal chemical constituent of nerve tissue. It is also a powerful tonic, and it is the only food which will build up the nervous system, and it is the only food which will build up the nervous system, and it is the only food which will build up the nervous system.

HOG SYNDICATE SUIT DISMISSED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Charges against George Egan, Harry Bolaski, Frank C. Jordan and Dupont Coleman, brought by John W. Bantz, an Oakland attorney, alleging embezzlement in connection with the operations of the American Hog Syndicate, were dismissed in San Francisco yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Robert Fitzgerald, when Bantz failed to appear to present evidence in support of his charges.

A citation granted Bantz against the four men Friday from the bond and warrant clerk upon a misapprehension of the facts of the case was returnable yesterday. When Bantz did not appear Fitzgerald proceeded to hear the case.

Following the presentation by Egan of evidence to show that when the affairs of the company were settled Bantz, who had purchased five hogs under certain conditions, was given the opportunity to be re-compensated upon the same terms as other clients of the concern, Fitzgerald dismissed the case as "stilly."

Husband Used Her As Football, Says Wife

Axel Johansen celebrated his birthday by beating and using his wife as a football, according to charges made today by Mrs. Belle Johansen of Forty-fourth and Grove streets, in a divorce complaint Mrs. Johansen asks $75 a month alimony and community property.

I wish I could smother you to death! was one of the expressions Charles Ford frequently used to his wife, according to the allegations of Mrs. Ford's complaint.

Mrs. Ford says that her husband's flirtations caused her such mental anguish and physical suffering that she feels the need of $50 a month alimony and a divorce. The plaintiff states that the couple were married October 10, 1905, and separated November 15, 1919.

EXECUTIVE POWER

WILSON EXHAUSTED

A third marked difference was in Mr. Wilson's exaltation of the executive power of the league and the subordination of the administrative and judicial to that power and in my advocacy of an independent international judiciary whose decisions would be final and whose place in the organization of the nations would be superior, since I considered a judicial tribunal the most practical agency for removing causes of war.

The difference as to international courts and the importance of applied legal justice requires further consideration in order to understand the divergence of view which existed as to the fundamental idea of organization of the league.

President Wilson in his covenant, as at first submitted to the American commissioners, made no provision for the establishment of a world court of justice, and no reference of any sort was made to the Hague Tribunal of Arbitration. It is not, in my opinion, a misstatement to say that the President intentionally omitted judicial means of composing international disputes, preferring to leave settlements of that sort to arrangements between the parties or else to the body of delegates or to the executive council, both of which bodies being essentially diplomatic or political in their composition would lack the judicial point of view, since their members would presumably be influenced by their respective national interests and by political considerations rather than by a desire and purpose to do impartial justice by applying legal principles.

ARBITRATION PACT IN DRAFT

It is true that in Article V of the first draft of the covenant there is an agreement to submit to arbitration certain classes of controversies and a method of selecting arbitrators is provided—a method by the way, which the actual experience of a century has shown to be the least satisfactory in administering legal justice. It is almost inevitable leads to a compromise which impairs the just rights of one of the parties. But, to my mind, a provision for more objectionable arbitration is almost inevitable leads to a compromise which impairs the just rights of one of the parties. But, to my mind, a provision for more objectionable arbitration is almost inevitable leads to a compromise which impairs the just rights of one of the parties.

ARTICLE VI

The powers signatory and adherent to this convention agree jointly and severally not to discriminate against or in favor of any power in the matter of commerce or trade or of industrial privileges, and they further agree that all treaties, conventions and agreements now in force or to come into force or hereinafter negotiated shall be considered as subject to the most favored nation doctrine, whether they contain or do not contain a clause to that effect. It is specifically declared that it is the purpose of this article not to limit the power in imposing upon commerce and trade such restrictions and burdens as it may deem proper but to make such impositions apply equally and impartially to all other powers, their nationals and ships.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THEIR PLANS SHOWN

This article shall not apply, however, to cases in which a power has committed an unfriendly act against the members of the League of Nations as defined in Article I, and in which commercial

I shall not express here my opinion as to the reasons which I believe impelled the President to insert in the Covenant these extraordinary provisions which deprived arbitral courts of that independence of the executive authority which has been a modern principle, and which is the basis of the impartial administration of justice. But, when one considers how jealously and effectively the Constitution of the United States and the constitutions of the various States of the Union guard the judiciary from executive and legislative interference, the proposal in the President's plan for a League of Nations to abandon that great principle in the settlement of international disputes of a justifiable nature causes speculation as to Mr. Wilson's real opinion of the American political system, which emphasizes the separation and independence of the three coordinate branches of the government.

That a provision found its way into the draft of the Covenant, which the President on February 8, 1919, laid before the Commission on the League of Nations, declaring for the creation

A HEART-TO-HEART TALK

"Would that I could take you by the hand and look into your eyes as I speak the message I am sending you in this paper."
F. E. Miller

Oakland, April 22, 1921.

FRIENDS:

As you doubtless know, Oakland has been flooded with letters written to me last fall by Dr. C. C. Wing, Assistant Health Officer of Oakland. They are cunningly printed in an attempt to deceive you into believing they were sent out from the City Hall. There was nothing to indicate that they were mere copies. They were sent anonymously and mailed in San Francisco to add to the deception.

You opened the big envelope and wondered why it was sent you. It was strange to you, also false, wicked and cruel. I know thousands of you who received it, and I can read your thoughts.

Thousands of you have gone through my plant, have enjoyed a quart sample of my ice cream and know its quality.

That letter stirred the town. I have five telephone lines into my office and thousands have called me up daily to tell me of their contempt for the sender of it. Kiddies, too (I know thousands of you), have hit the phone with their kind words.

Dr. Kirby Smith, Health Officer of Oakland, said emphatically yesterday that my plant is all that his department could desire and that he deplores the malignant attack on me. That is gratifying, but not necessary. You all knew it.

You know there is an "ice cream war" on at present. The Trust has declared an ice cream monopoly of all Northern California. Every independent maker must be crushed. I am to be put out of business. I know just how loyally you will stand by me in this vicious fight.

The U. S. inspectors visit my plant much oftener than the local officials. Because of the quality of my ice cream Uncle Sam awarded me the contract for Goat Island and the Presidio during the war when our "boys" had to be kept in the pink of condition. Why "Quality" ice cream for the U. S.? You know.

My ice cream is in demand in many cities which the Trust claims as its exclusive territory. I have dared to supply them. Hence more hatred from the Trust; and the letters.

I am sole owner of the Miller Ice Cream Company. I started it fifteen years ago in a very modest manner. Superior quality quickly won its way, as it always will.

It will always have to fight those who would create a monopoly to make big profits out of inferior quality. That's the fight today. That's why you got that malicious letter. Today six hundred agencies sell my ice cream. With me they stand or fall.

Ninety-five people are on my payroll, nearly a hundred deserving men and women who earn a good wage. One hundred thousand people eat my ice cream every day. To many it is a necessary food. It means health to them.

I first gave to the kiddies the five-cent cone and they have come regularly for it even now that they are kiddies no longer. I have often seen one hundred thousand dollars' worth of autos at one time parked before my plant, the occupants buying and enjoying my cones and cream. This success galls the Trust and inspires it to send out its anonymous letters. You understand.

Thousands of you know the truth about my wonderful plant in which I take unlimited pride and to which I devote every effort of which I am capable. School children by thousands have come to my place, a class at a time, to be educated in the modern pasteurization of milk and have received useful and valuable knowledge.

Delegations from the Housewives' League, Mothers' Clubs and similar earnest bodies have been through my plant and will ever retain their admiration for its cleanliness and completeness.

You remember how interested you were in the wonderful working of my modern machinery, also that you were given a quart brick to repay you in some measure for taking the trouble to visit me and my plant. Knowing these things you wonder still more why such a jealousy-inspired letter should be sent you.

Perhaps you were one of the thousands who telephoned me during the last two days and could not get me. This was due to multitude of calls from friends, five lines working without a spell till 11 p. m. each night. Not till now did I have actual proof of the great number of my friends. I am fighting for your interests and it is beautiful to know that my efforts are appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
F. E. MILLER, Sole Owner.

An Invitation To You All

All adult Oaklanders are cordially invited to visit my plant at 2941 Broadway and see for themselves the magnificent, sanitary place in which Quality Ice Cream is made. To each visitor I will give a quart brick of my Quality Ice Cream to repay you for the courtesy of your visit.

THE TREATY WITH COLOMBIA.

The Senate of the United States finally has ratified the treaty between this government and Colombia negotiated for the settlement of several long-standing disputes originating in the revolt of Panama, the activities of this government in connection with that revolution and the lease of the trans-isthmian canal and railway line. The vote was overwhelming in favor of ratification, there being only fifteen Republicans and four Democrats recorded in opposition.

In view of this conclusion of the subject in the Senate it must be presumed that the arguments of the opponents of ratification, led by Senators Johnson of California, Borah of Idaho, and the socialistic Watson of Georgia, were without serious convincing quality. The "best minds" of the Senate voted for ratification.

There will always be some question as to whether the United States by this treaty has not tacitly recognized Colombian claims which were deficient in real merit; and there will be others at a loss to understand what basis of real value exists for the payment of $25,000,000 indemnity to Colombia.

Those who are disposed, however, to look hopefully ahead and forget, as far as possible, historic vexations, will be pleased at the prospect of friendlier relations between the United States and Colombia, and of the opening of the way to a permanent settlement of the boundary dispute between Panama and Colombia.

Colombia's protests and demands have given rise to much unfavorable comment and real antagonism throughout Latin America during the last fifteen years. It will be a happy day when all the causes of misunderstanding and suspicion are removed and it is well to assume a generous attitude in removing the causes of Latin American distrust.

In addition, since this government has guaranteed the independence and territorial integrity at Panama, it is proper that the boundary dispute with Colombia be adjusted. This treaty discussion has had several ugly phases and the country will be pleased to find it disposed of for good.

THE TAX PROBLEMS.

Congress now is seriously involved in the work of solving the nation's tax problems, that is, as they are considered apart from the question of a protective tariff. There are three important tax measures being advocated all over the United States and Congress is to give careful examination to each of them.

The first of these is the repeal of the excess profits tax. This tax is almost universally condemned as blocking the progress of business and as a cause for the maintenance of high prices. The future yield of this tax will also be reduced very much. The second step urged is the reduction of the high rates of surtaxes on very large incomes. These high rates are forcing investments in tax free securities, and are taking needed money out of railroad and industrial lines. It is believed by many that the reduction of the maximum surtax to around 40 per cent would result in a much larger net return to the Treasury.

The other measure which apparently is receiving widespread approval, is that for a general sales or turnover tax. In the recent survey of national conditions conducted by an eastern financial concern, it was reported that a sales tax was universally favored. In this connection it must be remembered that the reports on which this summary was based were made by bankers and business men. No doubt these men were honest in making their reports, but it is possible they reflect their own individual opinions more than those of the average of their district.

Discussion of the sales tax proposition has been pretty general among manufacturers, retail dealers and bankers, beside the generous interest that students of economy always readily give to every question of this character. The people at large have not indicated their judgment on this question to an appreciable extent, mainly because there has been no comprehensive means of ascertaining their sentiment.

But the dissatisfaction of the general public with the excess profits tax and the so-called luxury taxes is so pronounced that it is probably ready to try some other device of raising government revenue, in the general hope that the new device cannot be more unpleasant than those now existing. Repeal of the taxes on recreation for the common people; of the tax on the school children's ice cream cone and the tired shopper's soda water, on the small boy's baseball and bat and other so-called sporting goods, would please everybody. These taxes have been thoroughly annoying and have not yielded a very significant return.

THE CANAL GOVERNMENT.

Secretary of War Weeks announces that he purposes to investigate the government of the Panama Canal zone with the view to reducing the cost of canal operation. He is under the impression that the canal government is performing too much as well as performing it too expensively.

Without granting that Mr. Weeks is correct in his assumption, it is both timely and appropriate that a new examination of affairs in the canal zone should be made. The feeling has been pretty general among those who have visited the canal and the business interests which make use of it, that a re-adjustment should be made. The canal was opened for regular shipping in 1914. At that time the canal zone was administered and the canal itself operated under the military system that had been found necessary for the construction period. In digging the canal it was necessary to have a one-man control and the army system was put in vogue. The government assumed responsibility for the care of all employees and their families who went to the canal to engage in the work of construction. It provided all the safeguards, comforts and luxuries of human life there obtainable.

This system was carried over from the construction period to the operation period. The government has gone ahead improving conditions until they have made it possible for the population of the canal zone to display a little more self-reliance. Secretary Weeks describes the present condition as one of pure state socialism. By which he means that the government is undertaking the entire direction of the life of the canal zone population. It is spending over $800,000 a month in the canal zone government, and this is exclusive of the maintenance of American troops along the zone.

That the re-adjustment is possible and desirable, nearly everyone believes. It is held that the cost of government should be substantially reduced and that a larger voice in the government should be extended to the government employees, officials and others who live in the leased territory. The people in that territory have themselves petitioned for the right of local self-government.

An impartial investigation will discover the answer to many questions. Secretary Weeks intends to make that investigation and to lay the results before Congress. Then new legislation probably will be considered.

New England is highly pleased that that splendid soldier, Clarence R. Edwards, has been restored to his rank of Major General. His temporary demotion after the splendid performance of the Rainbow division was one of the dark and mysterious political deeds of President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker.

President Wilson at Paris agreed to the League of Nations, the Shantung grab and a military alliance between the United States and two European governments. Is that not enough without contending that his objection to handing Yap over to Japan should be ignored?

The California Legislature, like the legislative bodies of other States, has demonstrated the fact that investigations belong to the game of politics and are not to be considered as efforts in search of the truth.

President Harding wrote his message to Congress with a lead pencil, but he delivered it with a firm voice and a courageous outlook upon the future.

OUTLAWS OF THE SEA.

A queer case of forty-one "trippin' sailor lads" suddenly running amuck at sea and ending up in a regular debauch of crime came to light the other day when the Fabre liner Britannia arrived in Providence, R. I., with the mutineers aboard in irons. The story of their escapade sounds like a chapter from Stevenson or Conrad.

These men, who were arraigned before a United States Commissioner charged with unlawfully conspiring to commit offenses against the United States while on the steamship Manoa bound for this country, were members of the crew of the steamship Iver Heath, which was laid up at Antwerp for repairs. They boarded the Manoa at Antwerp on route for Canada, and later ran amuck, according to the story of the crew, when the Manoa was driven ashore at Antwerp, by a storm, the ship's officers appealed to the American consul, and at his request the Portuguese authorities arrested the men and held them until the Britannia reached Boston.

The psychological explanation of a whole ship's crew suddenly becoming crazed like the cattle on Western ranches under the influence of the poisonous locust plant, would undoubtedly be that, suddenly deprived of their jobs and finding themselves idle, these sailors listened to that imp of the perverse and decided, in the good American vernacular, to "start something." The old saw about the devil always finding work for idle hands to do is based upon sound psychology. When small boys have no outlet for their energies they usually get into trouble—and men are only boys grown up. If the steamship Iver Heath had kept on her way, instead of docking at Antwerp for repairs, her crew would be at work today instead of lying behind bars at Providence. The Bolshevik spirit and idleness are closely akin.—New York Sun.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Stokes suit isn't as livid as the Stillman suit, but they are doing their best to exemplify life as she is lived by certain New York millionaires. Incidentally it is to be judged by the space consumed in the accounts that it is taken for granted that there is a hysteric desire everywhere to have the full particulars. Such may not be wholly the case.

Oregon must be feeling rather secure in cutting down the Mexican army. For ten years it had been directly the other way. With all the soldiers that could be raised in the various ways of the country there were never enough to reduce the disorders. That the ranks are to be reduced as a governmental policy is a good indication that tranquillization has made some headway.

The railroad situation all over the country is disturbing. The lack of acumen and understanding during government control is undoubtedly responsible in a considerable degree, but it may be there is a revolution in transportation methods. Whatever the situation is to be charged to, it is recognized as a grave problem, probably in greater part an aftermath of the war aggravated by unnecessary perversions of a national administration.

Modesto baby judges are canny. Out of 450 entries in a baby show 175 were found to be perfect, and the judges announced their inability to award a prize. It may have been that they were put wise by someone who had served punishment in such capacity, and had had experience with mothers whose hopefuls had not been awarded the blue ribbon.

It is an indication of the strained conditions in Czechoslovakia that a priest was jailed for praying for the former King Charles. Those who jailed him are evidently in the ascendant, and are not in favor of the restoration of the former Austro-Hungarian monarch. At that, a prayer isn't a very overt offense.

Russians deported from this country on account of their Soviet proclivities are to be denied admission to their native land. American Soviets, though undesirable here, are not of the brand that is desired there. The query is raised, what is a poor deported Soviet to do?

The Santa Fe Company has had enough of the unannounced ticket office plan and is reported to be about to resume business at the old stand, or to use another wheeze, to paddle its own canoe. It is evidently a task of magnitude to untangle the snarl which the railroad management was left by the Federal government, but it is being gradually done.

Essay on the goat, from the Richmond Record-Herald: "Since the goat is no longer used as an advertisement for spring beer, what good is he? If we happen to own one, somebody always manages to 'get it' anyway."

Well what do you think of President Harding, so far? Just about what you expected, eh? At least he is no worse than you feared. Doing pretty well for a beginning.—Palo Alto Times.

The San Bernardino Telegram has this birds-of-a-feather item: "Young ladies who are eating yeast cakes for their complexion could have a delightful heart-to-heart talk with the old-timer who carried a buckeye for rheumatism."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

If it were true that civilization is in such a state that only the United States can save it, then it has reached a state where it even the United States can save it. The fact is that when Europe finds out that the United States is not going to make the half-promised supreme sacrifice, the people of that section of the earth will quit bolstering and go to work.—San Bernardino Sun.

A statue of John McLaren, creator, designer, developer and now superintendent of Golden Gate park, is to adorn that beautiful section of outdoors in the immediate future. The statue is the gift of A. B. Sprockels, park commissioner, and the order for it has been given to Amos Cummings, sculptor and park commissioner. This is a graceful recognition in his lifetime of the services of a man who made the sand-dunes blossom as the rose.—Stockton Record.

Grand opera in London has proven a failure. In San Francisco, having less than one-tenth of London's population, it enjoyed an unparalleled success. This is true in spite of the old world's greater reputation for artistic appreciation.—Palo Alto Times.

O. G. Gordon of the Six-Minute Ferry Company leaves tomorrow for Los Angeles to take up with the shipbuilders there the matter of constructing the three new ferries. It is possible that contracts will be let while he is in the south. The bids call for delivery in from six to nine months, and if the contracts are awarded the new service between San Francisco and Oakland should be in operation by the first of next year.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Californians used to send East for flower seeds under the impression that what you send away for must be better. The Mentor tells its readers that the United States is now the seed garden of the world, and dwells on the fact that a single company in California sows more than 3000 acres to seed plants.—Stockton Record.

A HUMANE HERO

April 6 already stands in history as an epochal date—anniversary of the victory which crowned a battle of nearly four centuries when, 12 years ago, Robert E. Peary "nailed" the Stars and Stripes to the North Pole.

In connection with this anniversary, the National Geographic Society has issued from its Washington, D. C., headquarters a bulletin concerning the human qualities of the great explorer, based on a communication to the society by Donald B. MacMillan, a lieutenant on Peary's successful Polar expedition. The National Geographic Society had a part in supporting Admiral Peary's expeditions, and awarded him its special gold medal. Quoting Mr. MacMillan, the bulletin says:

"Every kind and thoughtful and considerate of his young and inexperienced men, he treated them as a father would treat his sons. He helped us lash and pack our sledges, untangled and repaired our frozen and knotted traces.

"When struggling along far in the rear, with refractory dogs and heavy loads, an Eskimo would often be called to relieve us of a part of our load and pilot us safely across an open lead, and if we arrived with frost-bitten faces, it was often the commander's warm hand that brought the blood back to the surface.

"I well remember falling through the ice at 53 below zero. With seal-skin boots filled with water and rapidly stiffening clothes, I arrived at our encampment of snow houses. He beat the ice from my bearskin pants, pulled off my boots and wiped my feet and legs with the inside of his warm shirt. And when covered with blood, a heavy 40-32 bullet having passed through my arm, into my shoulder, and out through the back, and clipping the side of one finger, he remarked: 'I would much rather had that thing happen to me than to you!'

"This does not sound like 'marlinet' or 'tyrant' or 'unkind to his men.' His last words to Marvin, lost on the return, 'Be careful of the leads, my boy,' is characteristic of the man.

"If one word was written large upon the face of every man and upon the walls of every little state-room in the steamship Roosevelt, it was the word enthusiasm, which may be translated into good leadership; for we felt our strength and our knowledge in Arctic matters increasing day by day and beheld an equipment being perfected which we knew must win.

"Is it any wonder, then, that we as assistants, when we heard the blowing of the whistles of Sydney, Nova Scotia; beheld the line of craft circling out to escort us into the harbor; saw waving flags and decks black with people, should be almost sorry that he had won out?

"We knew that never again would we have the honor and the pleasure of serving under such a leader."

Not Exactly Extravagant.

An economical housewife told her husband the other morning that she'd have to ask him for $2.50 more a week on account of the high cost of living.

"I'll try and give you $1.25," he grumbled. "That's the best I can do. You're pretty extravagant, Amelia."

"My extravagant?" And Amelia laughed bitterly. "Well, James, I don't see how you can call a woman extravagant who has saved her wedding dress for over thirty years on the chance that she may yet make a second marriage."—London Opinion.

A SOCIAL STUDY

(Inscribed to the bay ferry passengers.)
Pipes to the right of them.
And to the left of them.
Smokers on every side.
Hard puffing and blowing.
Who can smoke number ten,
Rich in tobacco smell,
Hosts ever growing?

Mists of the morning fade
When old Sol makes his raid;
The bay is clear.
But smokers puff afar
Pipe, cigarette, cigar,
And smoke wreaths hover o'er
The assembled crowd.

What need of naval base
Here or at any place
For war's dread day?
Let smokers all unite
When summoned to the fight,
And in clouds dense as night
The foe overwhelm!

A man of generous heart,
Fit for a noble part
In war or peace?
This is the time and place,
Puff smoke in every face
And none neglect.
Hasten the coming day
When all mankind shall say
"Give us your smoke!"
—R. C.

Oakland, April 21.
A slight exaggeration by poetic license. A woman passenger was surrounded on only three sides, one side free. Smokers well distributed; non-smokers also present.

QUICK BUNKERING AT PANAMA
The Superintending of Coaling Plants at the Cristobal coaling station, Panama Canal, has reported a new high record for the delivery of approximately 1000 tons. ### HELEN DAVIS WILL BECOME BRIDE AT PARIS CEREMONY

BERKELEY, April 22.—Miss Helen Davis, attractive Berkeley society maid, has been working her woman's prerogative overtime. Three in a few scant weeks Miss Davis has changed her mind, and this time she announces that she will elope to Paris.

News of Miss Davis' engagement to Freeman Hirsch, American artist, reached college city friends from Paris, where both Miss Davis and Hirsch are sojourning, a few weeks ago. On the heels of the engagement announcement and the attendant felicitations sent across the sea came Miss Davis' statement that she had changed her mind and would not be married. Yesterday new word came. This time Miss Davis informed her friends that she would be a bride next week and that Hirsch would be the bridegroom. The wedding is to be celebrated in Paris, where Miss Davis and her mother, Mrs. Andrew Davis, and her sister, Mrs. Jessica Davis Nahl, have been sojourning since last August. Miss Davis will spend her honeymoon in Germany.

University Comic Paper Cartoons Girl Students

BERKELEY, April 22.—A cartoon in the Pelican, which appeared today, shows a college girl reclining on a couch reading a magazine with a lighted cigarette in her fingers. A companion drawing shows the same girl "resting up for the next semester" and depicts her strenuously at work in a game of tennis with a male companion. Other clippings are taken at the girls, while professors share in the fun-making by the student editors. The argument over the placing of the Lincoln bust at the Campanile forms the inspiration for the following bit of verse:

The bust of Lincoln
Looks so silly
Up against
The Campanile.
At least to Inartistic eyes
They do not seem
To harmonize.
But artists swear
It should be there
And so do critics
Of renown.
If one must go
We'll have to tear
The Campanile
Tower down.

OTHER QUIPS.
Other quips from the Pelican, of which George F. MacMullen is editor, follow:

Her lips are of geranium red
And amber hair grows on her head.
But all these beauties come to naught
For rouge and henna can be bought.

The bookblack who used to put a bicycle pump guard on a woman's skirt to keep it free from the flying polish puts on the same guards to keep her skirt from coming up over her knees nowadays.
Your eyes are wonderful
Your mouth is delicious
Your hair is like taffy and
Your arms are soft and warm
And your knees are not a bit knobby—
But your ears?
Alas I cannot say, for I have never seen them.

"MARCELED HERO."
A woman's idea of a perfect mate is a marcelled hero with a pot of gold. The man doesn't care so much about the marcel. Chivalry is where a man makes a fool of himself for a woman in competition with others of his species.

It never pays to write to a girl on a post card, for she will think you don't care two cents for her. A woman has to have more

'SUPERMAN' WILL BE CHOSEN FROM U. C. ON MONDAY

BERKELEY, April 22.—The "Superman" of the University of California will be chosen on Monday. On that day, a faculty committee will select the best of the college's athletes for the awarding of the medals offered each year for the best all-around athletic record. Each year the men who possess the ordinary requirements of the "super" with perfect grades, are allowed to compete for the three medals which the university offers.

The tests which will determine the winner of the gold, silver and bronze medals, will include swimming, fencing, wrestling, boxing, running and jumping. The medals will be awarded by President David P. Barrows.

Did you ever notice the woman who goes out to collect funds for the starving Armenians wearing a shimmering silver fox coat? The lazier question used to be: "What'll you take?" Now it is: "Where did you get it?"

WIFE WHO WAS CALLED FOOL IS GIVEN DIVORCE

San Francisco, where wife declared she has a large sum of money, the whereabouts of which she did not know, was too friendly with another woman and called his wife a fool, a liar and other things she objected to, according to the testimony of Mrs. Ethel MacQuart, the wife, who was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge J. J. Trahanov today.

Mrs. MacQuart asked for $100 a month alimony in her complaint but no award was made by the court, as the parties effected a property settlement out of court.

Mrs. Antonette Andrews was granted a divorce from Harry Andrews, whom she accused of falsely charging her with associating with other men. She said he once shocked her when she returned to their home. She said that he abused her so loudly as to create a scene for the passersby. They were married in Oakland June 9, 1917, and separated about a month ago.

One great advantage of getting clothes properly tailored to measure is the fact that a good tailor will study his client and show him patterns that blend with his individuality. He goes to make-up stock. It makes no difference to him whether he sells a stripe or a plain. A Buck suit not only fits a man's figure but his personality, too.

BERKELEY VOTERS TO PICK MAYOR AT POLLS TOMORROWThree School Directors Also Are to Be Selected; Contest Heated.BERKELEY, April 22.—After one of the quietest campaigns in the history of the city, spring politics will come to a head tomorrow with Berkeley's general election.A mayor and three school directors are to be chosen by more than 38,000 registered voters of the city.
That the vote will be lighter than the almost 12,000 recorded at the primaries three weeks ago is generally predicted.A close vote on all offices is predicted. Opposing Mayor Louis Barlett for re-election is Albert Leisner, automobile agent and church leader of the college city. Mayor Barlett has centered his fight on the East Bay Water Company, charging the corporation with working to defeat him. Leisner has made his plea for election on the grounds of the need for a "business administration" in Berkeley. Charged with being an advocate of "blue laws," Leisner has denied that he favors having the "blue" clamped down in Berkeley.One of the closest fights in years for seats on the board of education is expected tomorrow. Mrs. Ida M.
Blochman, incumbent, has as opponents Mrs. Mary Cleveland, Professor William B. Harris and Dr.
Ernest L. Loring. There are two full-term places to be filled on the board. A short unexpired term now held by Lester Hink will be contested for by Frank D. Merrill.Polls tomorrow will be open from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m. Returns will be received at the city hall tomorrow noon under the direction of Miss Emma Hahn, city clerk.HIGHWAYS LACK SCORED TULSA, Okla., April 22.—The United States is the only country in the world without a Federal system of highways. Cyrus S. Avery, president of the Albert Pike Highway Association, told the National Good

What's Happening in the Motor World

by Jim Houlihan

One of the best racing cards in the west will be placed before the automobile racing public at Fresno
during the Rain Day Celebration, April 30.Some of the fastest drivers in the country will drive, and there will be keen competition. Eight cars have already entered, and more are expected before the starter sends them flying around the course at over a hundred miles an hour.There is an alleged split among the members of the Dusenberry team and each man is out to win for himself this time. In previous races there had been a man picked to run lap races, and then he was eliminated. In this race each driver will go for the money, and it promises to make a thrill for the spectators than ever before.MURPHY WILL DRIVE Murphy, who carried away the last race in Fresno, and doubled back again at Los Angeles—although Punch was supposed to have taken at least one of the heats—will perhaps start as a favorite. Then there is Roscoe Sartes, consistent, heady and always a problem, who has to his credit the Los Angeles Thana-sian classic and the national championship for the past year. Eddie Pullen is out for a comeback to his former crown. Tommy Milton, dropped from the Dusen team, and one of all the members, still holds nearly all of the world's records, and is fighting a lone fight. Eddie Leard is also an outsider, and with his record is expected to show more speed than at any previous race.
Bunnett Hill will pilot Ira Vail's entry, and the combined judgment of both drivers should make this a real contender. Joe Thomas, who is supposed to have the fastest Dusen-berry, is also out on his own. Alton Soules is a driver new to the Fresno speedway, but he has the reputation of driving with his feet, for every ounce of power in the car.Seat sales are very brisk. Reservations are still being accepted. Email by the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce.

STATE FORESTRY BOARD INTACT BY SENATE ACTION

Further Amendments to the Reorganization Bill Still to Be Considered.

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Without a dissenting vote the senate yesterday amended the department of agriculture bill, one of a series of measures ousting Governor Stephens from office. The amendment provides that the department of agriculture plan, to exclude from the department the state forestry board.

Further action on the bill was then deferred until today, when amendments, proposing to nullify the provisions of the bill relating to the use of weights and measures and the state market commission in the department of agriculture, will be taken. If these carry, W. J. Carr, author of the bill, said he would withdraw it as it would be rendered meaningless.

The senate set the T. M. Wright state prohibition enforcement bill as a special order of business for next Monday afternoon. The bill will be taken up for final action in the upper house then in the form it was originally introduced and without the assembly amendment requiring its submission to a vote of the people.

McDonald's bill to establish a nine-hour day for women in domestic service was passed 21 to 15 by the

The senate. The author said he believed the governor would sign it. A somewhat similar bill, calling for a ten-hour day, failed of passage at the last session of the legislature.

The senate passed and sent to the assembly Flaherty's bill authorizing the commission of immigration and housing to investigate and propose to the next legislature a plan where, by the state might assist workingmen to acquire homes. Similar action was taken on Ingram's bill to require railroads to include first-class kits as part of their equipment.

This is the last day remaining for either senate or assembly to bring to a final vote the measures originally introduced by the senate. Besides clearing up the governmental reorganization measures the senate has more than one hundred other bills, many of them of a controversial nature, to dispose of on the next legislative day," which may extend to the 15th.

Among these measures are Scott's ten-round boxing constitutional amendment and Bennett's bill to apply the redlight abatement processes to places where gambling is conducted.

The senate passed and ordered to the assembly the bill by W. J. Carr and King, requiring public service corporations to submit to the legisture through the board of equalization data of the valuation of their properties and information as to their stock and bond valuations.

By a vote of 24 to 3 the senate passed and transmitted to the lower house Inman's bill appropriating $500,000 for improvement work in connection with aid from the federal government on the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers.

The senate also approved Scott's joint resolution calling upon Congress to appropriate $1,000,000 for the grade of Eden's bill to cede certain tidelands to the county of Orange was also passed and sent to the assembly.

BOXING BILL AMENDED.
SACRAMENTO, April 22. — On motion of the author, the constitutional amendment proposed by Scott was amended by the senate last night to reduce the number of rounds permitted from ten to four. Originally the measure would have permitted fifteen-round bouts. It would create a state boxing commission controlled by American Legion men.

PLAN COMES TOO LATE TO SAVE OLD OAK GROVE

Council Says Election Is Too Near To Submit the Bond Issue to Voters.

An appeal before the city council by Fred E. Reed, asking that the project for the purchase of the old oak grove in Trestle Glen for a park be laid before the people for a bond issue was held up this morning when City Attorney Hagan and City Clerk Cummings agreed that there is not enough time to bring the matter before the voters at the May 19 election. There is no other election in sight for two years, asserted the officials.

Commissioner Edwards advised Reed to confer with the Mayor. Reed said there were three ways to secure this park, by an assessment district in the neighborhood, by an appropriation every year from the city budget, or by bond issue. He asserted that the committee of experts who discussed the matter had been favorable to a bond issue election, but an assessment district might be too heavy a burden on the taxpayers in the vicinity. The plan of buying the tract by a direct annual appropriation, on the installment plan, full interest, was rejected.

It developed that the 31 acres supposed to be the size of the desired tract is only part of it. Reed asserted that the full tract is 65 acres, but the price should be made low by Walter Leimert, the owner, who should only ask a wholesale and not a retail price for the tract.

A further report on the matter will be made later by the realty men and the officials.

WHY "ANURIC"

Before an Insurance Company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him the large trial package of his famous "Anuric" (acid urine) and you will know your symptoms and need a change of urine for good.

Sheriffs Win On Feeding of County Prisoners

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The sheriffs have won their fight to hold control of the feeding of prisoners. Sheriff Frank Barnett, president of the State Sheriffs' organization, appeared last night before the senate county government committee and was able to effectively kill off the Loucks bill, which would have given over to the supervisors of each county the feeding of county jail inmates.

Barnett's arguments were to the effect that if the bill were passed it would endanger morale, assist prisoners to escape through the smuggling of knives or weapons into the jail, and would increase the cost of feeding prisoners. He said the bill would cost $1120 more a year for the feeding of prisoners.

The Loucks bill had been previously passed in the assembly.

M'GOWAN MUST DEFEND CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Police Judge Sylvan Lazarus today decided that the complaint charging Attorney George M'Gowan with perjury, lodged by Theodore W. Democratic leader and lawyer, is good and sufficient and ordered the preliminary trial for one week from today.

M'Gowan appeared, accompanied by two attorneys, his son-in-law, Christopher Buckley Jr., and Oliver Dibble. The latter motioned for the complaint should be dismissed because it was faulty, did not constitute the public offense and did not specify the exact nature of the perjury.

From the bench Judge Lazarus went to a question as to whether the magistrate had the right to issue the warrant at all. Buckley contended that a citation from the bond and warrant clerk should first have been asked for.

Bell, who represented himself, declared that he was willing that the case should be taken to the supreme court of California.

The basis for the charge is an alleged statement by M'Gowan that Bell sought to incriminate the former in the case of Mrs. William Van Bricken, in connection with the payment of an attorney's fee. Bell denies the charge.

CHICAGO SINGERS SCORE SUCCESS WITH LOHENGRIN

Wagnerian Opera Is Given in English Before Crowd in S. F. Auditorium.

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS
Those of us who were throwing fits about Lohengrin being sung in English last night could have saved ourselves unnecessary expenditure of energy. No one would have recognized it, except in rare spots, one of them when Lohengrin takes Elsa's hand (standing off about three feet) and sings "Ich Liebe Dich." It gives one an awful jolt—"Ich Liebe Dich" is much better than formal long-drawn-out love-making in English (English) version of this interesting phrase implies with us a close-up, and the illusion of elation at being loved by a god three feet away doesn't add interest to the romantic opera.

Far be it from me, however, to "crab" at George Johnson for his gentle use of our common tongue. His enunciation is excellent, ordinally, but Wagner doesn't lend itself to our common and lowly, and what right I ask you, have we to mangle an artist's work by putting it into a vulgar tongue? The language—for which it was not written—

ARTISTIC SOLEICISM
Wagner wrote the text to fit the music, and to change it is an artistic soleicism—the only one, let me hasten to add—that the Chicago Opera Company has scored against it. And Giorgio Polacco, who is an actor, by instinct as well as training, declined to lead last night.

Polacco, as you know, is a Wagnerian disciple. He led in the Wagnerian drama in Los Angeles and San Francisco and later in Buenos Aires, and is imbued with the spirit of the great modern. So in declining to lead, he is only standing true to his ideal.

But Pietro Cimini, who stood in the box instead, gave us a superb reading of the score, and what he got out of his strings and brasses was a marvellous and a moment was an orchestra obtrusive.

So much for that.

Edward Johnson's voice was round, full and beautiful, and his phrasing, as far as English could let him, the essence of intelligence.

And Rosa Raisa, beginning a bit cold, warmed to vocal reaches that will make her Elsa as notable an achievement as her Desdemona.

Her voice was as a bell. And she looked as well as she sang, with youth and its thousand faces to her credit.

But she was not outdone by Cyrena Van Gordon, who as Ostrud, the strong-willed wife of Count Frederick—Georges Baklanoff—found opportunity to show what she could do, and made the most of it.

And Baklanoff might have lived in Wagner's imagination when he wrote the part. An interesting fellow, this Russian, who set out in his own right, and in his leisure, sang and played in opera, until the struggle grew too hard and the law lost.

Edward Courtrell made a good Henry I, King of Germany, although in the early stages of the drama, his voice seemed a bit inadequate, but as the theme developed, his voice grew in volume. Wasn't he a superbly arrayed when he joined Lohengrin and Elsa together? Comel ranks with the best artists in the country.

It would be manifestly a dereliction of duty to omit the splendid work of Desire Defere, the herald, whose voice and personality made him a big figure in the cast.

All in all, there has never been a more satisfactory Lohengrin—vocally, dramatically and pictorially—in the history of art in California.

That Wagner holds interest—notwithstanding the Tired Husband's protest against it—note that 7000 men and women sat four hours on hard seats under the stars, and forger midnight folk of enthusiasm for the superb spectacle they had been privileged to hear and see.

We'll have the Opera House in 1922.

Tonight, Rigoletto, with the same superb cast—the newly discovered Schwarz, Bonci, Frieda Hempel, Lazzari, Carmen Pascova, Anna Correnti and Carl Bickel.

And by the way, a friend who keeps in touch with music all over the world, has just telephoned me that Tannhauser is being sung in London this month, and in its own tongue.

If London and Paris can sing Wagner in German, don't you think America can afford to do it, too?

Art there is no Personality—not at least among artists.

COUNCIL MAKES AMENDMENTS TO NEW ZONE LAW

Bungalow Apartments, Garages Permitted in One Restricted District.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance, allowing the construction of the "bungalow apartment" type of building in the restricted area around the lake and on Grand avenue was given first reading by the city council today.

The original ordinance, however, would allow garages, so long as they are kept from view in the rear of the tracts and favors these one-story apartments, made of a collection of bungalows, so long as there is more than one to a collection.

The amendment also defines the zoning ordinance and specifies that "there is nothing herein to prevent the construction of schools, churches or public buildings." House No. 10, at the corner of Grand and Grand avenue, will be the first bungalow apartment building to be built under the new ordinance.

The council also ordered a permit to be issued to the building of a twenty-one-unit bungalow apartment house on Grand avenue near Lake Shore avenue, opposite the city hall, to be built by the city hall.

Grand finally got his permit, provided he does not use garage space to anyone except his own tenants.

The report of the city auditor for March, tendered today, shows that Oakland has $1,125,554 in assets and $1,576,543.59 as balance in treasury.

Removal Notice!

LONG

THE COFFEE MAN

Will remove his COFFEE
DEPT., on May 1st
from the

Sixth Street

Free Market to

Long's Market, 9th & Wash.

After nearly 15 years of constant occupancy of this corner, where we have done a wonderful coffee business, we have decided to consolidate all our coffee interests in our own market, where we are putting in machinery and improvements which will make this one of the most complete coffee stores west of Chicago.
With these added improvements we will have capacity for delivering 25 pounds of coffee per minute. So no one need be afraid that they will not get prompt service. Mr. Shuey, who has been your and our trusted and faithful servant during all these years at the old place, will remain with us at our market, and will be glad to meet and greet all his old customers and friends there.

LONG, THE COFFEE MAN

Care in selection, care and skill in blending and roasting—the matching of every lot of raw coffee to an unchanging standard of flavor—that explains the uniformly smooth, rich taste of Folger's Golden Gate Coffee.
And all of this care is necessary because a smooth coffee blend is most difficult to attain. The "knowing how" comes from long experience—in the case of Folger's Golden Gate Coffee, an experience of seventy-one years.
Folger's Golden Gate Coffee is "Different in taste from other coffee and better."
So find out for yourself how good it is. Ask your grocer for it.

DISEASE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS TO PEK GROWERS

Destruction of Fields by Aphids Reported West in Many Years.

Cannery men and growers have begun taking stock on the loss on peas in this section. According to experts who have examined northern acreages, the destruction of fields by aphids this year has been the most severe in many seasons. In the Milpitas areas whole ranches have been affected and the vines lie dead on unproductive fields. It was estimated here yesterday that one cannery near Milpitas stands to lose at least $20,000 as a result of the ravages of the plant vermin.

While there have been considerable deliveries of peas to the Oakland market the price remains up to 8 cents a pound. A considerable amount of the peas are not of high quality. Although first raspberries and cherries have been delivered in this region, no effort has been made by Oakland houses to obtain receipts because of the very scanty early supply and the corresponding high prices. First cherries and small raspberries were small and in San Francisco brought 15 cents a pound, because of the low quality. Raspberries remain at 50 cents a basket.

Strawberries on reduced receipts today sold higher again, the gain in some cases amounting to nearly 5 cents a basket. There is little prospect of a marked improvement in the quality of over-green berries in San Francisco today were generally of high quality.

Citrus fruit marketing has been brisk here, and prices seem to be being stimulated rather than retarded. Expectation of a further advance within the next week or two is reported, as the last of the orange crop moves to market.

Weakening is reported in the market for turkeys, particularly wild birds which are in decline. There also is a reduction in hares, which are being plentifully supplied to a fair trade.

Warm weather is having an effect on the vegetable market, in that deliveries are being somewhat enlarged and prices are showing decline. Squash of good quality are selling cheaper.

MOTORISTS ARE ROBBED AT DOOR OF OWN GARAGE

Bandits Compel Them to Leave Car and Take Shelter Behind Billboard.

As Sophy Terry and Albert Raymond were driving their automobile into the garage in back of their home at 845 Stanford avenue two strange men walked from across the street into the yard.

"Don't move or we will kill both of you," said one of the bandits. "Now stay at the wheel and drive to the corner of San Pablo avenue," said the other as he pressed the gun against Terry's back.

When they arrived at the corner of San Pablo avenue and Sixty-fifth street Terry and Raymond were forced to get out of the machine and walk behind a signboard, both covered by revolvers.

The hold-up men took $65 and a check for $50 from Terry and from Raymond they took a gold watch.

Both of the robbers were well dressed and about 25 years old. They were not masked.

JAIL PREFERRED BY 'HONEST MAN' WITH LONG NAME

Believing that San Quentin is preferable to a guilty conscience, George K. Pappothanlian, who has gone on record as the most honest man in California, appeared before Superior Judge Samuels this morning for arraignment and asked that he be punished for passing a bad check.

There are other things peculiar about George than his name. A few weeks ago he caused near-apoplexy in the Berkeley police department by walking into the desk sergeant's office and saying:

"I passed a bad check on a candy store two years ago and it has been weighing on my conscience ever since. Please punish me," said George.

He refused the services of an attorney and insisted that he be sent to prison.

According to Deputy District Attorney John T. Calkins, Pappothanlian is a religious fanatic and has conceived the idea of going to jail for the purpose of converting the other inmates.

Woman Is Injured by Motorcyclist

The police are today looking for an unidentified motorcyclist who ran down and seriously injured Mrs. J. E. Parker, aged 63, at Seventh avenue and East Twelfth street last night. Mrs. Parker, whose home is at 820 Twenty-third avenue, was taken to the Oakland Central hospital. She is in a serious condition.

'SHADY' DOINGS TAKING PLACE IN CLEAR SKY

Oakland Gets "Low Down"
On Luna From Bedroom Windows.

A transaction that can only be described as "shady" took place in the heavens late last night. For three whole hours the Earth, Old Sol and Luna double-crossed their orbits.

Old Sol, as usual on such occasions, kept discreetly in the background, while the Earth assumed the role of innocent bystander. Only Luna, who was "full" and subject, without doubt, to every slightest emotional reaction, gave sign of being in the least degree disturbed. A shadow passed across her face, which wears, on ordinary nights, a sweet, serene expression.

North and South America, New Zealand, the West Indies and a part of Australia looked on while Luna played the role of harem queen, discreetly drawing a veil across her features.

Oakland opened all her bedroom windows to gaze out across the interplanetary spaces to see the world-wipe Luna off the map of Heaven. Some declared, as they observed the silhouette of Earth creep up across the Moon's horizon, they could see the shadow of Oakland's city hall stand out against the copper-colored lunar plains, while shades of terry

Moon Totally Eclipsed By Shadow of the Earth

By CHARLES E. HUGHES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LOWE OBSERVATORY, MOUNT LOWE, April 22.—Visible to one-half the inhabitants of the globe, a total eclipse of the moon, remarkable for the opportunity it afforded scientists in the United States and South America to make observations, occurred late last night and early today.

The cause of the eclipse was the earth attaining a position directly between the sun and the moon. As a consequence, the sun's light to the lunar body was obstructed.

Early in the evening the moon, as viewed from the observatory 3500 feet up the side of Mount Lowe, appeared through the telescope to be a mammoth yellowish ball.

At 10 o'clock the moon entered the earth's shadow. At 11:30 the total eclipse began and this lasted until twelve minutes past 12. The moon left the earth's shadow, which has an average length of eight hundred and fifty-eight thousand five hundred and seventy-six miles, at 1:35 a. m. During the period it was obscured by the earth's shadow, the moon had a copper-colored appearance. This was caused by reflected light from the sun bending round through the two hundred miles of the earth's atmosphere and reaching the lunar party.

The dust and moisture in the earth's atmosphere was responsible for the peculiar color.

At the time of the total eclipse there were only two plants observable above the horizon of Mount

Low. These were Jupiter and Saturn. Four of Jupiter's moons were plainly visible through the huge telescope. Those had a reddish hue as compared to Jupiter's brilliant coloring. One of the moons appeared very near to the planet.

The three rings of Saturn, which are now turned vertically to the earth, appeared like one tiny third. These rings are particles of meteoric matter which are circulating about the planet.

WORLD'S MERIE TRIFLES To emphasize the puny position the earth occupies in the universe, Director Larkin asserted:

"One billion worlds such as ours could come to an end and never be missed. There are three billion suns now known to astronomers. There are millions of nebulae condensing in the other suns and in from two to four billions of years they will reach that stage."

The astronomer said he had been studying for 62 years, 10 hours a day, and he still has considerable to acquire in the way of astronomical knowledge.

As the correspondent started to leave, Larkin quoted a poem composed by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, March 31, 1903, on the very spot where we stood. It ran:

"My soul walks alone on this mountain top in silence, sandals shod, What mortal would presume to speak when all alone with God."

Soft Drink Parlor Is Raided; Two Arrested

G. Benedette and John Pezzolo were arrested last night at 4501 Shattuck avenue for violating the National Prohibition Act. The raid was conducted by Police Inspectors Joe Otis and Charles Appleford. Six bottles of brandy found behind an ice chest were reported confiscated by the officers. Benedette is the owner of a soft drink parlor, and Pezzolo is his assistant. Both men were taken to San Francisco this morning.

CITY DEFRAUDED BY COMBINE, IS SEATTLE CLAIM

SEATTLE, April 22.—Charges by Richard Winsor, former member of the Seattle school board that bids for plumbing contracts here were controlled by a combine of contractors, and that the school district had been defrauded of thousands of dollars through the maintenance of high bids, will be investigated by agents of the department of justice, the federal district attorney announced. Attorney General Daugherty will decide whether prosecutions will follow.

FUR FACTORY BURNED NEWARK, N. J., April 22.—The four-story plant of Joseph Holland, fur goods manufacturer, was wrecked by fire today with an estimated loss of $200,000. The fire started on the first floor and 100 men employees escaped down stairways.
